

Ying and Yang fly together and they want to say that,
"there's too much pollution in the world today".
We need to clean the water and keep the earth safe
so the many can grow in this beautiful place.
When the butterflies hatch from their cocoons,
the biggest one says let's fly to the moon.
She teaches them to fly, to enjoy the world,
and watches as the babies let their wings unfurl.